STUT's Health Counseling Process

You can call, use the immediate center, homepage or emails or go to Health Office in person to ask healthy problems. First, record your basic information and healthy problems. Nurses will answer them immediately. After that, you finish the healthy counseling and register in the service form. If nurses can answer your questions immediately, then this case will be finished. However, if nurses can't answer your questions immediately, they will ask you to leave your contact information and hand in your questions to let the chief or the experts solve them.
